

Steve Toschi: Bio

Steve was first introduced to the city of St. Helens when he met his wife Robyn, a 4th generation St. Helens native. Steve quickly fell in love with the town and its people on his visits to Robyn. They have been married for 35 years and raised three children.

Steve opened his own law practice over 20 years ago which has taught him how to effectively communicate with people, interpret laws, and balance a budget. Steve's professional background equips him with a unique blend of legal and administrative expertise that will serve St. Helens well.

Steve and Robyn have seen just how much St. Helens has changed and not necessarily for the better. In an effort to make a positive change, Steve decided to get involved. He served on the city's Planning Commission and educated himself on the negotiation partners the city works with including: the Port authorities, developers, state regulators, and others. In 2024 he started the Town Talk Café podcast, to share local stories, address important issues, and celebrate the unique spirit of St. Helens.

When Steve isn't working, or educating himself on local issues, he enjoys St. Helens access to the great outdoors. He loves fishing on his boat in the St. Helens Marina, swimming, and walking on the trails with his wife Robyn. Steve understands the importance of safe, clean, and fun recreational spaces for families, and he wants to create more of these family friendly spaces in St. Helens.

Steve is running for the Mayor of St. Helens because he knows he can make a real difference in improving the livability of the city so residents not only can afford to live here but they can thrive in St. Helens.
